Testimonials

ChannelSale multi-channel ecommerce platform is a great solution for Sears marketplace sellers to dynamically manage their content, pricing and inventory feeds. They have been a very supportive aggregator partner to Sears with their on-time responsiveness and their solution's ability to meet our specific needs. Be it a small or large seller, they have always provided un-divided attention and support to make the sellers successful on Sears platform – Thank you!

I can honestly say that without ChannelSale, the online part of our business would not be in the position it is in today. Our revenues are much improved and more diverse as a result of simultaneously being able to list our products across a huge range of venues, and adding new products is as simple as adding one more row to a spreadsheet. Also, ChannelSale reports have provided us with key insights that have allowed us to more effectively target our resources and efforts to where we can get the most value. I know for a fact ChannelSale provides us with an edge that our competitors just don't have. I would recommend that anyone selling in volume online or managing a large variety of SKUs take a good look at what ChannelSale has to offer and how they might be able to help you succeed with your long term goals.
